

Faint, illegible text or markings located directly below the watermark area, possibly bleed-through from the reverse side of the page.